ENCOURAGED

Are the Cuban Soldiers Over Recent Successes.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE

To the Spaniards From Cuban
Mines and Bullets.

A DELIBERATE BUTCHERY OF PACIFICOS.

A special dispatch from Philadelphia to the Globe-Democrat says: By Saturday's mail a letter was received from Capt. Cox, of the Cuban army, formerly of the Pennsylvania National Guard. Capt. Cox went to Cuba with Dana Osmond, the military half back, but they were separated most of the time.

Capt. Cox's letter is an encouraging one to the friends of Cuba. It contains a list of the names of the Cuban soldiers who were killed in the battle of San Juan, and a list of the names of the Cuban soldiers who were wounded.

"You complain of hard times in the United States, but you should see the people of Cuba, and then you would not complain. Even the armies are in a bad state. I do not know which one is the worse off, although the Spanish soldiers beg in many of the towns. We take what we want. Personally, I have suffered much for lack of food, or rather lack of the proper kind. It is hard to be well and live happy on three principal things, meat, fruit and sugar cane. Meat is the main food, and I hope when I leave here never to see any more of it."

From Cox's second letter, dated two months later, the following extract is taken:

"There is a fast improvement in our condition, and the army is certainly in pretty good form just now. We are receiving more arms and other munitions of war, although just how they get there no one seems to know. The highest officers are, of course, aware of the expeditions that bring in such substantial reinforcements, but I understand an order was given by Gomez some time ago that there should be as much care exercised in the matter of information at this end of the line as at the other. Of course, there are traitors here, but they are not known. Occasionally one is given away, and you do not need to be told what the treatment is."

"Everybody in the ranks feels better this month than ever before, and the spirit of fight is becoming stronger daily. You would be surprised at the number of recruits who offer themselves every day, and fill all parts of the country. The Spanish army is in fearful condition. The men are losing heart every day. Some of the battalions which are favorites are well treated in comparison with the others, but as an army I am sure there is much discontent and suffering."

MINESPRUNG ON SPANIARDS Large Force Marched to Death— Carriage in a Fort!

A special dispatch from Key West to the Globe-Democrat says: A large Spanish column was defeated by the Cubans west of Santa Clara, one day this week. The details of the affair have been kept quiet in Havana, and the fact has just leaked out. The Cubans were besieging a large Spanish detachment of some 400 men under Maj. Sotomayor, sent from a near-by encampment to drive the insurgents off. As they advanced near the town Garcia's men arranged a cunning ambush in a thick swamp, mining the road bed and planting a cannon where a turn of the road gave them full rake.

When the mine was sprung the surprise was complete. The Spaniards attempted to rally, but the Cubans opened at short range with grape and canister, using chain, bolts and iron pins for this. Their musketry fire was rapid and effective. The Spanish commander hurried to the front and endeavored to make his men stand. He was wounded and his fall dispirited the men. The next in command was soon after hit, and then the fight became a running rout. The Cubans pursued them fiercely and many fell under their avenging machetes.

After they had escaped, the Cubans secured several carloads of guns, and from the fallen soldiers much ammunition. Over 150 Spaniards were killed or wounded, it is stated. The Cubans lost thirty men, the Spaniards firing but little after the surprise.

A report from Pinar del Rio states that Fort Infanta Isabella, near the Northern end of the trocha, was attacked and destroyed Thursday. The Cubans crept close to the walls of the fort during the night and planted mines of dynamite under them. Before daybreak the mines were ex-

FOR SEVEN YEARS

Black, the Lebanon Rapist, Goes to the Pen.

TWO MEN ADRIFT ON ICE.

A Disastrous Voyage of the Naval Squadron.

MRS. GEORGE AT DEATH'S DOOR.

Lebanon, Ky., Feb. 9.—The trial of William Black, the negro rapist, is on this afternoon, presided by a strong military guard against an excited populace, which would otherwise make quick work of him. There has never been such intense excitement here as at this time, and if a clash between the militia and a mob does not occur, some people will agreeably be surprised.

A later dispatch gives the information that Black pleaded guilty to the charge in court and received a sentence of seven years in the penitentiary. The case consumed was just seven minutes. The crowd hardly knew a trial was in progress. In less than an hour the prisoner was on his way to the penitentiary.

There is great indignation here over the light sentence imposed.

Cashier Bank of England Dead.
London, Eng., Feb. 9.—Frank May, for many years cashier of the Bank of England, is dead.

Mrs. Beecher Dying.
Stamford, Conn., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, who has been at the point of death for some days, is now sinking rapidly and cannot survive the day.

Killed By His Wife.
Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 9.—George Davis, a prominent merchant of this city, was this morning shot and instantly killed by his wife, with whom his relatives have not been pleasant. It is understood that a family row was in progress when the shooting occurred.

Two Men Adrift on Ice.
Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 9.—Two men were this morning seen to pass the town of Lakesville adrift on the ice. Their agonizing cries for help could not be responded to as it was absolutely impossible for any boat to reach them or assistance of any kind.

The Treaty Under Consideration.
Washington, Feb. 9.—The Anglo-American treaty was under consideration by the Senate from 1 o'clock until 5:30 yesterday. The entire proceeding was in executive session. The first half of the session was spent in debating a motion introduced by Senator Hill, to consider the treaty in open session, and the most animated part of today's proceeding was based upon this motion. The debate was characterized by several sharp passages at arms between the author of the motion and Senators Morgan, Lodge and Sherman, the three last named contending strenuously for the observance of the senatorial custom of secrecy in dealing with the treaty. It was stated that it was the wish of the administration that the public should be excluded from the debates.

A DISASTROUS VOYAGE.

The Squadron of Admiral Trench
Loses Several Men.

Charleston, S. C., Feb. 9.—Admiral Bence's blooding squadron reached port today, after a disastrous voyage from Hampton Roads. Three men were lost overboard from the battleship Maine during the gale of Friday, one man was crushed to death on the cruiser Maryland, another was fatally injured and six others were so badly hurt that several may lose limbs. The details of the accidents on the Maryland are not obtainable, but it seems that the cruiser made bad weather of the blow. Last night as she lay off the jetty she presented a dismantled appearance. Her foremast is stove in, a portion of her superstructure and two masts were carried away. The heavy seas that swept her decks also carried away her search light, lower port beam, smashed the rails and swept overboard the lifeboats.

SENATOR BARRIS IMPROVING

A Speedy Recovery Now Expected
By His Physicians.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Friends of Senator Isham G. Harris, of Tennessee, were greatly relieved and gratified yesterday to learn from his physicians that the condition of the Senator is now so much improved that there is every hope of a speedy recovery.

A Good Report.

SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

Mr. Jas. H. Elliott Arrived From Memphis.

AN INFECTION OF THE CITY.

The Distinguished Gentleman
Takes Paducah's Wharf
He Says.

DO NOT INDOOR CHIMNEY SYSTEM.

Engineer James H. Elliott, of Memphis, who was at the last meeting of the committee to come to Paducah and see if the city for sewerage, arrived at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was met by Maj. A. B. Jones and City Engineer James White at the depot, and last night in his room at the Palmer House, conferred with Mayor Yeiser and the sewerage committee, and went over the maps of the city.

This morning Mr. Elliott, accompanied by Mr. Will Elliott, a well known civil engineer of Texas, formerly a resident of Paducah, Mayor Yeiser and the sewerage committee, drove out over the city on a prospecting trip.

In some places the party was compelled to descend from the rig and walk, but the inspection was very satisfactory.

Mr. Elliott was seen by a Sex reporter after his drive over the city had been concluded.

"You have a very pretty city," he said, "an excellent city, in fact, but you need sewerage."

"What do you think of the feasibility of establishing a sewerage system?" he was asked. "Some people imagine that sewers would never work well here on account of the almost annual rise in the river."

"Well, if the drainage system were a perfect one, that is, having the storm pipes and sewers combined, when the river got high the council, together with everybody else, would have to leave town. But if the right kind of sewerage should be put in it would work admirably."

Mr. Elliott said many nice things about Paducah. He recommended the system of sewerage proposed by the council, and will at once begin his work of directing the city for sewerage.

Mr. Elliott is considered one of the finest civil engineers in the country. He took charge of the sewerage in Memphis after it had proven a dismal failure and been condemned, and made it one of the most celebrated and complete systems to be found anywhere. He will remain several days in Paducah.

VANDYKE BROWN

An Alleged Thief Says He Didn't Steal.

He Just "Harassed" Lawrence Glore's Jewelry and Coat.

Charles Vandyke, colored, who was arrested as Charlie Smith, and afterwards claimed that his name was both Prentice and Foster, is not wanted in Louisville. He is wanted here just now, however, and the harrowing story of being wanted for murdering a man in Louisville proved to be untrue. He seems to have been addicted to fighting while there, and a letter received from his mother yesterday informs him that the warrant is not against him for fighting.

Marshal Collins received a letter from the Louisville authorities today, and they expressed complete ignorance as to who the darky can be, but are certain that he is not wanted there.

Vandyke had an amusing way of holding up his hand in court this morning to Judge Sanders, like a child in school, when he desired to speak.

Lawrence Glore, the colored hackman, swore that Vandyke was taken in about ten days ago and that he broke into the house and stole a $175 watch, an overcoat and $10. The coat and watch were found on the accused when arrested.

Vandyke has a peculiar way of speaking, and when he wanted to be solemn and very trifling would hold up his hand to some power above.

"I'll tell you, Mistah, I didn't steal no money, I didn't. Hope Christ 'll put 'ize me if I did, I will, Mistah George told me nothin' he had no money for me, an' I wore the coat and watch off so I'd look respectable, and intended to return with them, I did." He said this to Judge Sanders, but when Glore swore that he told the prisoner no such thing, Judge Sanders held him to answer and fixed his bail at $300. In default he went to jail.

After court Vandyke asked Judge Sanders to please visit him at the jail. The Judge promised he would pay a social call some time this afternoon.

Called Meeting of the State Board.

Held Last Night at the Palmer
House in the City.

A called meeting of the State Board of the American Protective Association met last night at the Palmer House.

The meeting was of no special significance, and the business transacted was of a private nature.

George Sapp, of Louisville, was re-elected State President, and George E. Heinsohn, Secretary and Treasurer. A few local officers were also elected.

It was not a state convention but a called meeting of the board.

RAILROAD RUMORS.

Items of Interest Relative to the Railroads and Railroad People.

N. C. AND ST. L. RAILROAD.
Switchman R. L. Beck went South on 104 this morning.
Plumer Golden opened the throttle on the 306 as she rolled out on local this a. m.
Mr. El Potter, the popular motor-man, is reported as being seriously ill at his home.

John Morrison is the latest name that adorns the list on the extra board of circularartists.
Ben Culum is keeping the fore-boards with the switch gang, and has been for some ten days back.

Mrs. A. S. Chute, mother of Engineer A. S. Chute, is quite sick and is stopping off to be with her.

Fireman Hugh Edwards added fuel to the flames out on the 309 this a. m. His first trip for two months, having been incapacitated for duty by illness.

Harry Pixer and Bob Waynick swapped shovels on the wing yesterday. Bob is growing the iron steels today and Harry is out with the 12 on special.

The remains of Mrs. A. C. Weddle left this morning for internment at Hills, Tenn., accompanied by her husband, Conductor Alex Weddle and their little daughter, Bessie.

Conductor Alex Fulton had the biggest train of passengers in this a. m. that he has handled for many a day, and that expressive smile on his countenance was as correspondingly broad.

Fireman Bill Kane and Shorty Horkdale are both laying off for a trip. When this happens you may expect to hear of a balloon ascension, masquerade ball or some other festivity in a short time.

Fireman Emmett Sneed was the last lower out on the 312 this trip. Bill Kane says if he don't find out that Gus Gideon is a right hower before he gets back he will have a deuce of a deuce of a time.

There is great joy at Sam Lewis' house today, and he is as proud as he was when he first donned his knickerbockers. It is a girl. She tips the beam at nine pounds, and the nurse says is the image of Sam.

Engineer James Hering, "Talky Jim," was the eagle eye of the 309 on mail train this morning. Jim came up under the best runners on the pike and handles the Johnson bar as expeditiously and as safely as the best of them.

GOSSIP ABOUT BEEF.

Butchers Said to Be Afraid of Armour's.

Many All Be Told Talk—But There Is Plenty of It.

There has for several days past been considerable gossip about Armour & Co., of Chicago, shipping beef to Paducah in refrigerator cars to be sold. Where the rumors started is a mystery, like the many other idle reports that are circulated every day. One report was that two car loads of beef had been received here, and the butchers informed that if they did not buy it it would be placed on sale in competition with their meats. Whether this rumor had any foundation or not is unknown. No beef was received over the Illinois Central, at least.

The talk of Armour invading this territory has been general for some time, however, and while it is not for a moment recommended, yet he could prove a formidable competitor in the fresh meat trade, for he can transport it and still sell it as cheap as the butchers. His meat all undergoes inspection, which cannot be said of the meat now sold here. It is said that one reason the butchers wanted a stock inspector appointed recently was to preclude the importation of fresh meat from other cities as well as from the country.

AN APPEAL.

Ex-Marshall Lynn Will Likely Get one.

His Friends Have About Raised the Necessary Money.

Ex-Marshall Philip Lynn, who was convicted of the murder of Miles Bradshaw, alias "Lightning Baby," and sentenced at Metropolis to sixteen years at Chester, will take an appeal.

Judge Vickers overruled the motion for a new trial, and the defendant was given six months in which to take an appeal.

To get an appeal in Illinois, however, requires about $200, and this was the principal drawback to Lynn's case.

His friends, however, have about raised the requisite amount, and the case will be carried to Springfield as soon as the few remaining dollars are raised.

Lynn, it seems, still has a great many friends left in his erstwhile home.

"A BAGGAGE CHECK."

A Lively Comedy At the Opera House Thursday Night.

The second act of Chas. E. Blaney's "A Baggage Check" shows the working of a steam laundry, and is said to be very realistic. It shows how little regard the laundries have for the public interest, and the author has given it a very appropriate name, the Rip and Tear Laundry.

SLICK DUCK.

Harry Jarvis, Alias, Etc., in Court Today.

HE HAS MANY NAMES.

Telegram From Pennsylvania Says He Is a Fraud.

S'ALD W'N'ED N CA'RO

It will probably never be known what is the correct name of the confidence man who was arrested yesterday on a charge of obtaining $10 by false pretenses from the New Richmond Hotel.

He registered as Harry Livingston at the Palmer, as Henry Jarvis at the New Richmond, and to one of the Elks he said that he was Dave Woods of Altoona, Pa., and he belonged to the Elks there.

Escorted by E. C. Gleaves, telegraphed for information and was notified that Dave Woods is now in Highamption, N. Y., and that the man here is a fraud.

This morning he was presented to Judge Sanders' court on the charge of obtaining money by false representation, and Major Josiah Harris defended him. While it was manifest that his intentions were to defraud, there was no evidence to prove it.

He procured the $10 at the New Richmond upon the representation that he was a advance agent of Ringling Bros.' circus, but there was no one to swear that he was not the advance agent of Ringling Bros. circus.

The defendant was not introduced, and Judge Sanders stated that in his opinion it developed on the commonwealth to prove that the defendant had made false pretenses when he said he was Ringling's agent.

To prove this Manager Fletcher Terrell was introduced, because he is a recognized authority on circuses. The met with rocky treatment, however, as Major Harris contended that Manager Terrell did not know who Ringling's advance agent was, and whether it was the defendant or not.

Mr. Terrell based his opinion on his knowledge of circus customs. He said:

"That man told me he was advance agent for Ringling's small circus—had about forty cars he said—I think that's a pretty big circus, though, as there's only one bigger, Barnum's. He said they had sixty bill posters and that they would be here on the tenth. Said the circus would be here in March, but I gave him the rattle-dazzle and told him that if a circus came to Kentucky in March it would be blown away."

In this strain the witness testified. He was asked if Ringling had more than one circus and he said that he didn't. Maj. Harris asked him how he knew, and he said he saw Mr. Ringling himself about three months ago, and he didn't have but one then, but Maj. Harris insisted on asking the witness if he knew how many circuses Mr. Ringling had brought since, and this ended it. Mr. Terrell said that Ringling's circus was now in winter quarters at Barabos, Mich., and never got out earlier than May, but was forced to admit that it might get out by March 15 this year.

The defendant grinned at this, and seemed visibly amused because there was no one to prove that he wasn't in truth Ringling's advance agent.

Judge Sanders said about the only way the commonwealth could show that the prisoner was not what he claimed to be would be to have some of Ringling's men here to swear to it. He left the case open until tomorrow.

The man is also wanted in Cairo. The "Argus" says:

"A slick confidence operator was trying hard to victimize different Cairo business men last Saturday. He professed to be the advance agent of a big circus that was to pitch its tents here on the 15th of next month, a rather unreasonable time for circuses. He was contracting for supplies the big show would need, feed, meat provisions of all kinds, board for a large company at the hotels, etc. He visited the feed stores, butcher shops and hotels, and after contracting liberally for supplies with a man, always found himself short of ready money and wanted to borrow five dollars until he could get a remittance from headquarters. It is not learned that he was successful except in a single instance; he raised five dollars out of Bucher Bros. & Co. He left town Saturday night or in the small hours of Sunday morning. He was recognized by some he met as a variety actor connected for a time with Harry Walker's old Conique theatre. His wife was with him then, both being small people. He is a quite small, light man and dresses neatly.

When Jarvis was in Mayfield he is said to have had a woman with him. He is given credit for having deceived any number of men there, including hotel keepers, livery men and feed dealers. On the strength of his representations he secured a horse and buggy from Liveryman Woods for half a day to go out and take a "look at the show ground."

More will likely be heard from him.

It has also been learned that Jarvis worked the I. C. ticket agent at St. Louis for a pass on the strength of being Ringling's advance agent. He gave his name as Joe Cohn, and Conductor Blaney has the pass now in his possession.

Whatever his name is he claims to be a Hebrew. He informed a reporter at the jail that his name was Henry Jarvis Livingston, and that he hadn't done anything wrong.

Doek Olden Made 'Em Think He Was Dying.

A Doctor Was Called and Soon "Cured" Him.

Doek Olden, colored, who stabbed and killed George Fitzpatrick some time during December on "Dry River Front," was thought to be dying a night or two ago in the county jail. He was apparently unconscious, and could not be aroused. County Physician Brothers was sent for, and when he found Olden was at first at a loss to account for his apparent lethargy. A few vigorous punches in the ribs, however, made him bounce up very readily, and proved that he was only playing possum.

Olden is a sufferer from neuralgia, and waived examination on a charge of murder.

OF CONSUMPTION.

Death of Mr. J. H. Thomas Yesterday Afternoon.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, aged 65, died of consumption at his residence, 1235 South Third Street yesterday afternoon.

The deceased had been ill about eighteen months and had resided in Paducah about four years.

He leaves a wife and two children, the latter being Mr. B. H. Thomas, of the city, and Mrs. Gordon, of Fulton.

The deceased was a member of the First Christian church, and the funeral services were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. W. H. Pinkerton. At noon the remains were taken to Fulton for interment.
